

Save time • Save money • Help the environment • Help the poor • Promote education and Get a tax credit

The Hands is a Microsoft® Authorized Refurbisher (“MAR”). Companies and individuals can donate used computers and get a tax deduction instead of spending money to dispose of them. Donated computers are used in educational programs and by families that are unable to afford computers.

We do the work for you. We pick up computers, monitors, and related parts. We securely wipe all hard drives according to Department of Defense standard 5220.22-M to make any data left on the computer unrecoverable. We have volunteers who refurbish hardware, install new software, and prepare donated computers for re-use.

Refurbishing makes good sense. Used computers are a problem. They contain lead, and other toxic parts, and should not be simply thrown away. Proper disposal can be expensive and time consuming. Donated computers are refurbished, and re-used to promote math, literacy, and computer skills.

We accept computers that are 1 GHz or faster, or with any Pentium 4 or newer processor. Computers do not need to be in working condition. We also accept monitors in working condition that have a display of at least 15 inches.
